

The diagram illustrates a page layout with a light gray background. A large, light blue rectangle is centered on the page, representing the maximum printing area. To the left of this rectangle, there is a vertical dashed green line. To the right, there is a solid green line. The top right corner of the page is folded over, and the bottom right corner is also folded over, creating a trapezoidal shape on the right side. The text "Max printing area 180x220 mm" is centered within the blue rectangle.
